The Working Lunch

The working lunch is designed for our clients working on photo shoots and commercials, both in the studio and on location. We have found that providing a substantial and delicious lunch that is easy to eat whilst working is important in this environment. This style of lunch is also suitable for long office meetings and seminars where there is no time to leave for lunch.

We place a very high emphasis on creating a variety of interesting combinations which are healthy, tasty and look great. We change our selections daily so our clients will always look forward to a different lunch arriving! We are more than happy to tailor a menu to suit you and your guest's specific requirements or you can leave it up to us. Here are some examples below:
